- Automaker becomes global sponsor for upcoming new release

Subaru of America, Inc. and Brand USA, the destination-marketing organization for the United States, have announced a global partnership in support of the new giant-screen, 3-D documentary, "National Parks Adventure," which will be released in IMAX® and giant screen theatres worldwide in February 2016. The film celebrates America's Great Outdoors and the centennial of the National Park Service and is produced by Academy Award®-nominated filmmakers MacGillivray Freeman Films. As part of the partnership, the film will open with a short dedication spot from Subaru that promotes the importance of the national parks and the need to protect them.

"As we bring this majestic film to giant screens around the world and showcase our national parks – true American treasures – to international audiences, we're proud to have Subaru as a major partner," said Christopher L. Thompson, Brand USA's president and CEO. "Subaru has established itself as a corporate leader in advocating for the environment and the parks. They're a perfect fit for us."

Through its sponsorship with Brand USA, Subaru will participate in global consumer advertising and film promotions with its extensive retail network. The Subaru "Who we are is what we leave behind" sustainability campaign which highlights Subaru's efforts to reduce landfill waste in the country's national parks will be integrated throughout the film's overall marketing campaign. As the premier vehicle partner of the National Parks Service Centennial, Subaru is working with the national parks on a zero landfill initiative dedicated to significantly reducing waste going into landfills and preserving the parks for years to come. "We're excited to be involved in this inspiring project," said Alan Bethke, Vice President, Marketing, Subaru of America. "It's a great way to highlight these national treasures and raise awareness of their importance. Working with Brand USA and MacGillivray Freeman Films as a major sponsor of "National Parks Adventure" underlines our commitment to promoting the approximately 400 National Parks Service properties and working with them to ensure that future generations will also be able to enjoy them."

Brand USA collaborated with independent filmmaker MacGillivray Freeman Films to produce the documentary. MacGillivray Freeman has created 38 giant-screen productions, including nine of the top-20 giant-screen, box-office hits.

"Subaru has a strong history of environmental expertise, being zero landfill since 2004, and is as passionate about the parks as all of us who have been associated with this project, and we are thrilled to have them as a partner, said Shaun MacGillivray, producer of the film and president of MacGillivray Freeman Films. "Their support will help us carry the film's message about the importance of the national parks to an even greater audience."

The Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of Natural History in Washington, D.C., hosts the first official screening of "National Parks Adventure" on Feb. 10, 2016. Screenings in more than 15 international markets and in the U.S. will follow. Additional premiere events will be held in Mexico City, Beijing, Tokyo and possibly other international locations.

Subaru of America joins Expedia, Inc. as a key global sponsor of the film as well as REI, which serves as a domestic sponsor. The film additionally received financial support from the Giant Dome Theater Consortium which also lent their giant screen expertise to the production.
